

COMMUNICATION (AA)

Associate of Arts

Transfer Program

Interest Areas:

Arts, Comm., and Humanities

Communication is a discipline that teaches vital skills for success in today's society and provides professional preparation in communication fields. Communication provides the link for using all other technical skills and knowledge acquired in one's lifetime. Few assets are more valuable to career or community than a basic understanding of the dynamics of communication.

Communication is an area of study that is not limited to public speaking. Communication includes the study of how people interact in relationships and groups, as well as public presentation situations. The course of study offered at NIC gives students the opportunity to explore a variety of areas in communication. Completion of the following courses results in an associate degree and normally fulfills the first half of baccalaureate degree requirements in Communication. Course selections should be tailored to match requirements of the intended transfer institution.

Program Outcomes

Upon completion of the program, students will be able to:

1. Organize, develop, and deliver audience-centered presentations that clearly articulate their ideas.
2. Analyze, construct, and critique arguments grounded in logical reasoning.
3. Identify and evaluate how interpersonal and intercultural communication principles influence communication and understand strategies for developing communication competence.
4. Identify foundational communication theories.
5. Identify the fundamentals of small group communication through experiential learning and critically evaluate their own and others' behaviors.

In addition to the program outcomes, students will meet the North Idaho College General Education (GEM) Requirements.
